AN ARTISTIC FUSION OF FORM AND BALANCE

Introducing Join Sculpture, a series of abstract wooden sculptures by Normann Copenhagen's in-house designer, Yuchen Wu. Inspired by traditional woodworking joints, Join Sculpture explores the aesthetic potential of wood meeting wood, resulting in a dynamic interplay of form, balance and geometry.

The design process began as a study of structure - examining different types of wooden joints and their intriguing visual expressions. What started as hand-drawn sketches evolved into a series of carefully composed geometric forms. The outcome is a collection of three sculptures, in various sizes, each with a unique combination of shapes and joints that creates a floating, light and playful expression.

The sculptures embody a modern, cubist-inspired aesthetic, merging rectangular volumes with circular elements to achieve a sense of visual equilibrium. The ability to rotate and reposition each piece introduces ever-changing perspectives, allowing observers to interpret the shapes in their own way.

Join Sculpture is crafted from FSC™ certified (FSC-C163461) ash wood, and showcases the natural beauty of wood in its contrasting finishes of natural and carbonized ash. Designed to complement a variety of spaces, they make a striking addition to side tables, podiums, shelves, or window boards, serving as statement pieces that infuse artistic character into their surroundings.
