Studio Dejawu combines the functional with the festive in Bell Opener - a bottle opener and bell in one. A humorous design piece that calls to mind the question of the chicken and the egg: which came first, the bell or the opener?

Looking at how the two elements effortlessly melt into one another, it seems clear that they were created together, to work as one. ”The world is divided between those who can drink a lot, and those who fall asleep after the first round of beers. Now my friends know how they can keep me awake! ” says Qian Jiang from Studio Dejawu.

Set your imagination free and discover new ways to use the bell and the opener together. With a choice of finish in either matt gold or metallic black, the Bell Opener is an attractive and entertaining design piece that is sure to keep everyone’s glass full!
