A REFLECTIVE VASE DEFINED BY GEOMETRY

Normann Copenhagen introduces Hexa Vase, a sculptural steel design that explores geometry as both form and function. Crafted from mirror-polished stainless steel, the vase collection features a distinctive hexagonal opening that gives the design its name—Hexa—derived from the Greek prefix for six. The reflective surface is a deliberate choice, allowing flowers to mirror themselves in the polished steel and become an integrated part of the overall expression.

Sharing both material and conceptual DNA with Normann Copenhagen's Fem Bowl, Hexa continues Normann Copenhagen's exploration of numeric geometry as a design principle. Where Fem is defined by five sides, Hexa expands the idea through a six-sided form, translating mathematical clarity into a functional yet sculptural object. Considered in its proportions yet subtly playful in expression, Hexa is designed to function equally well as a vase and as a standalone decorative piece.

Available in three sizes, Hexa Vase offers varied visual and functional characters—from a narrow format for a single statement flower to larger versions suited for small arrangements or compact bouquets. Whether placed on a sideboard, shelving system, coffee table, or dining table, Hexa Vase acts as a quiet statement piece, reflecting the brand's evolving design language and in-house creative vision.

This product is scheduled to be available online and in stores in September 2026.
